Instrumental Lessons

Individual weekly lessons, usually of 30 minutes duration, are offered in all orchestral instruments, organ, piano, harpsichord, guitar and singing. Lessons take place in pupils' free time, or in school time on a rotation basis; thus music lessons should not detract from a pupil's other studies. Instrumental pupils are required to practise regularly, and a timetable is organised for the younger pupils. Well over 350 girls and boys receive music tuition at the present time.

Practical Music Making

Practical music making is a feature of the Cathedral School. It is expected that instrumentalists will join one of the school's orchestras or bands. The Chapel Choir meets twice weekly; it gives regular recitals around the County. Last year the Concert Band, Saxophone Quartet and Piano Trio were all asked to perform in London in the finals of national competitions.

The orchestra meets on Mondays, as do the String Orchestra, Junior String Orchestra, Concert Band, Junior Orchestra and Junior Band. A variety of chamber music groups meet during lunch breaks, after school, and on Friday afternoons. There are also numerous junior and senior recorder consorts and the Gilbert Consort (a mediaeval music group) meets periodically. Middle and Lower School choirs, with the Chapel Choir, sing occasional services in the Cathedral and around the Diocese. Musicals, by both senior and junior schools, are regularly performed.

Academic and Practical Music Tuition

Many pupils enter for Associated Board Practical examinations, and a large number take theory exams. Members of the Music Department are responsible for accompanying candidates in practical examinations, and helping with aural training. Classes are given each week in the Rudiments and Theory of Music in preparation for Theory examinations.

There is a substantial amount of music taught on the timetable. All 1st, 2nd and 3rd formers receive two music periods each week, and a GCSE Music course is offered in the 4th and 5th years. Music may be studied at A level, the course being tailored to the specific needs of the individual student. 'A' level Music Technology is also available to interested candidates. Pupils are prepared for the Oxbridge awards, and the school has an impressive record of organ and choral scholarships at Oxford and Cambridge.
